Dear Tex,

You requested a copy of what the Argentine human rights report might have looked like. A copy of one of the later drafts is attached. The adjectives changed almost every day as the report went from hand to hand. I'm sure that Jim would welcome your comments, particularly factual ones. Don't pick on the editorial style since it has the blessings of the seventh floor mighty.

As usual I reiterate my request for more frequent human rights roundups. There is no other way to inject order into the human rights information monster. The roundup should include a summary of terrorist activity for the period addressed as well as the plusses and minusses of the same period. As I think you know, the roundup is the basic reference document for the Christopher Committee reports and affects IFIs and Eximbank. It is also used to backup or reject arms transfer requests.

One last word, keep the information flowing to us on Deutsch, Timmerman and Vogler. Guillermo Vogler is very angry and seems to want to join the ranks of Argentina's opposition in exile. The Fournesses are concerned that this will hurt Liliana and Luz. You can imagine all the ruckus that Deutsch, Timmerman and Vogler will raise when they are free.

I hope you are enjoying BA's warmth. The Potomac is clogged with icebergs which at times are a much more impressive sight than what one sees in Foggy Bottom.

My best to Bill, Tony and Yvonne.
